CATE BLANCHETT PICKED UP THE PRIZE FOR EXCELLENCE IN FILM

"This is bigger than I realized. I didn't know what I thought we'd be doing—quilting or something."

PARTYSCOPE

DYE HARD

Hollywood's most famous blonds used to be Harlow and Monroe. Now the men lighten up.

JARED LETO

Whether at the Oscars or Coachella, he rocks the best ombre.

KEVIN BACON

When the cameras flash on the red carpet, it's six degrees of tawny highlights.

BRAD PITT

The actor-turned-Oscar-winning producer ditched the surfer look to be taken seriously.

PETER DINKLAGE

Even a Lannister on the lam knows where to find the fairest shades of them all.

ADAM LEVINE

After hitting the big screen, Hollywood's new golden boy briefly toyed with platinum.

A surprised rush-hour crowd stopped in their tracks to watch Keaton walk through the station.
